I am making the position very clear that I feel I, and every other consumer in America, has the right to know exactly and explicitly everything being put in, added to, sprayed on our foods, or in any way genetically engineered by an individual or corporation or company or anyone that sells food for human consumption. Please be sure my rights are protected. We all (consumers) are learning more and more of the politics being used to try to keep information from us. You'll find it more difficult every day to keep us uninformed as more and more of us are searching for the truth.
Very sincerely, Delores Charboneau.
